CENTURY WHISKEY!

Persons in delicate health, often find it difficult to obtain Pure Stimulant. When prescribed by their Physicians, and used for Druggists and other fitness it is the most universal testimony of those who have used it.

is particularly designed. It is differently prepared from ANY WHISKEY IN MARKET, and is driving many old brands out of market, because the "principle upon which it is made is superior." The almost universal testimony of those who have used it.

CENTURY WHISKIES
is, that there is an entire absence of Headaches, and a direct consequence of the "purest of the Century Whiskies," and the impurity of many other brands.

They are ABSOLUTELY PURE; four prominent chemists certify to this fact, viz:

Prof. SILLIMAN, State Chemist of Connecticut.
Prof. C. U. SHEPARD, Jr., State Chemist of South Carolina.
Prof. W. C. TILDEN, Washington, D. C.
Prof. JOHN DARBY, New York.

All of whom agree in pronouncing it "without fault," and "free from any deleterious substance whatever."
For sale by first-class dealers everywhere.

LOCAL MATTER.

E. C. WOODSON, City Editor

Correspondents will please write on one side of the paper.

LOCAL BRIEFS.—
Up to 6 p. m. yesterday, the police court could furnish no items.

James Doyle has been appointed Captain of the night watch vice Joseph Watson, resigned.

An important arrival at the Southern Express Office yesterday evening—a ten-pound—Pence. All doing well—what next?

A little colored boy named James Sutherland, living in Eastern Ward, on yesterday afternoon fell from a fence which he was trying to walk and broke his arm.

Theo. N. Ramsay, Esq., the great North American Temperance Apostle, organized a section of Cadets of Temperance at the Hall of Good Templars, in this city yesterday evening. Verily, the day of complete reconstruction draweth nigh.

We regret to learn that M. W. Churchill, Esq., Treasurer of this city, is very ill at Jacksonville, Florida. Mr.
Churchill is a member of the Board of City Commissioners, and went South some time ago for the benefit of his health. We hope to hear a better account of him soon.

The gutters on Wilmington street are filled with dirt, and it seems to us that it is somebody's business to have it removed. The merchants on this street have just cause of complaint for being so much neglected by the authorities, when they bear the largest burden of taxes.

Allen Smith, formerly a resident of Craven county, but now of Glasgow, Ky., was on yesterday furnished by the Governor's Private Secretary, Jno. B.
Neathery, with a certificate, showing that he was duly enlisted as a soldier of the war of 1812. Upon which he will be entitled to a pension from the government.

Hon. K. P. BATTLE—As will be seen by the subjoined article taken from the Western Sentinel, our distinguished townsman, Hon. K. P. Battle, will deliver a lecture in Salem on the 3d of April:

"We are glad to learn that the young gentleman composing the 'Salem Literary Society' have been so fortunate as to secure the services of the Hon. Kemp P. Battle, as Lecturer for the evening of April 3d, prox.

Mr. Battle is well known throughout our State as a gentleman of learning and culture. We hope our citizens will give him a full house, thereby paying deserved honor to a most excellent man, and at the same time adding the excellent society for whose benefit he comes to us.

The subject, the hour and the place, will be announced hereafter."

RIDGEWAY WINE GROWING.—The subjoined communication, from a practical wine grower, will, doubtless prove highly interesting to owners of vineyards throughout the State:

RIDGEWAY, N. C., March 27.

Your undersigned contributor, is, this very day, "in all his glory." Here, at the Cottage, one of the farms lately purchased from Dr. W. Hawkins, for myself and associates, my "people" (wife, children, partners and a few friends) are feasting me, on the occasion of my birthday, (my 53rd anniversary).
We grow old, don't we, Woodson?

This, in itself, would be of no importance at all to the general public were it not that in the programme of the celebration, the planting of the first French grape vine, is the great attractive point of this fete de famille.
Monsieur Victor Clerc, whose mastery competency in viticulture, I have associated with my capital and faith in the success of our enterprise, is the organizer in chief of our to-day's feast, and wished to commence the exploitation of our large vineyard, by planting la vigne de l'Anniversaire, which ultimately (commencing from next year) will not make our poorest grade of wine. But I must stop right now, and speak more seriously. Well, last and this week, we received from the south of France, in the most smiling condition, one hundred thousand vine cuttings, of nine fine and rich varieties, seven out of which, we are positive, will thrive in this congenial soil, in this generous climate. We also received from the same source a few thousand cuttings of fig, olive and almond trees. We feel confident that some varieties of our figs will succeed in this region, and as for the olive and the almond, non verra.

We obtained these cuttings at a considerable outlay of money, trouble, &c., and take a pride in saying, that we believe ourselves to be the only two persons (Mr. Clerc and I) in this broad land who, in all respects, concerning this importation, could have been served so well and favored so much. Among our Alders, we count the two foremost men of France, as well as the two foremost men of America, Gaston Baille, who, for friendship's sake, for love, for devotion to progress, industry and science have done for us that which money cannot pay. To Hon. Frederick Watts, the Commissioner of Agriculture, and to Secretary George Boutwell, we also owe our thanks, for the kind and strict orders they issued in regard to the transportation, unloading, &c., of our plants.
Lastly, "lesser lights" have been extremely useful in bestowing upon us their friendly officers, from the first to the last.

We are now enabled to commence, practically, the execution of our theory.
We will teach, without fees, to those anxious to "learn the trade," how vines have to be set out, how they must be cult, the soil and its configuration required for such and such varieties, and, in fact, all that pertains to viticulture.
From next December we will be able to supply some of our neighbors and imitators with some choice cuttings at prices anti-fancy, though selfish as it may appear or be, I expect that at my 57th birthday a great number of North Carolina wine growers of the new order will be on hand in the town of Ridgeway, not only to celebrate my anniversary, and to express their fraternal sentiments to the promoters, the pioneers (myself and Mr. Clerc) of real wine-growing in the State, (I might as properly say in the United States,) but mainly to congratulate themselves and the country for the prosperity, the happiness, the morality this new branch of agricultural industry, will, at that time, have brought upon us all. More about about vines, &c.

Let me conclude in ordering the insertion of the advertisement enclosed, and please remind your readers, editorially, that I want, really, to buy, at the highest market price, 100,000 (or ten million if I can find them) rabbit skins.

Yours very truly,
J. L. LABIAUX.

SPRING.—At last the ruthless rigors of a long and blighting winter have passed away. The approach of Summer is betokened in numerous ways.
The modest but fragrant violets and hyacinths herald its coming. The strong oaks have put forth their tender buds, and the wild birds, coursers of the air, joyously greet its coming with sweetest carols. All these tell us of the advent of this mighty monarch of all changes. Soon the brown hills will appear in the festive robes of balmy spring, the evening airs be laden with the perfume of the hawthorn and the rose, the voice of the laborers be heard in songs from every field, and the rustling of the plumed corn awaken the heart to thanksgiving and praise. It is the happiest of all the seasons that now approaches; so joy yet so sweet, so gentle yet so willful, so verdant Spring! She brings a new strength to every heart, and casts a fresher beam of light from every eye.
Welcomed by merchant and minstrel, by laborer and by invalid, the opener of every door, the light of every household, and the queen of every hope for the future year! The rude winds of March that have placed so rosy a blush upon cheeks, are now yielding to the joyful tear of April. In May, the full glories of her reign will be seen; the rose, the lily and their beautiful sisters.
Rains are abundant. The grass is putting forth in verdant beauty. The trees are laden with buds. Soon we will be in all the glory of the new year.

Welcome, thrice welcome, gentle, beautiful Spring.

RUNAWAY.—A mule team belonging to Wm. A. Jewell, Esq., of this county, ran away yesterday evening from the Central depot, and passing the Cottage Hotel. The driver, Joe Crowder, was thrown out and sustained very severe, if not serious injuries. The mules were overhauled near the Yarbrough House, and the wagon and contents saved from destruction. The injuries to the driver were the only damage.

A NORTH CAROLINA LADY ON THE STAGE.—We copy from the Petersburg Appeal, of yesterday, the following item:

The editor of the Roanoke Valley, while on a recent visit to Washington, attended the theatre and writes:

"The first person we saw was a lady from North Carolina, who was supporting the famed Charlotte Cushman in Queen Katharine; M. P. Pendleton, her name, and she was very much complimented to us by Mr. Duffield, Ford's stage manager. She is yet a novice in her profession, but bids fair to make her mark."

The lady referred to is, we believe, well known in this city and elsewhere in Virginia, and has been justly admired for her charms of person and rare brightness of intellect. It will be gratifying to her many friends to thus assured, that in the arduous profession into which she has entered, she has already won such laurels, with the fair promise and prospect of yet more eminent success and fame.

KIDNAPPING.—A colored woman by the name of Susan McKesson, stole from the wife of Nick Alford, also colored, a small child, on Thursday morning, and immediately left for New York. She was overhauled by the police at Weldon, who were notified by telegraph from this place, and the child captured and returned to this city.

It seems that the grandmother of the child, who lives in New York, had furnished the girl McKesson with funds sufficient for the purpose, with the promise of a large amount to place the child in her possession. The woman, strange to say was not arrested, but is now at large in Weldon.

CARMER, THE DRUGGIST.—It is with great pleasure, not to say anything of our State and city price, that we announce the fact that Carmer, the druggist and chemist of this city, is putting up a laboratory in the rear of his Drug Store, where he will prepare in person the various medicines and other goods for which he has achieved an enviable reputation. The great and increasing demand for his goods has made this shop imperatively necessary.
When comfortable, we propose to give a full and general description of this new Raleigh enterprise.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon, about 3.30 p. m., at Pacific, a station on the Raleigh and Gaston R.
R., 21 miles from this city, Chesley Carrington, col., a train hand, by some means was jammed up against the platform of the depot by the freight train, and seriously injured. The unfortunate man was sent to his home in Weldon.
We have heard of no medical expression as to his hurt, but it is not believed that he is fatally injured.

JOURNALISTIC.—We are pleased to announce that T. R. Percell, Esq., of Salem, N. C., has accepted the position of Associate Editor of the State Agricultural Journal, and will enter upon his duties at once.

The house of an old colored couple named Moser and Rhodes, in Lumberton, was destroyed by fire on Sunday morning. A Democrat gave them shelter and Democrats donated a sufficient amount of money to rebuild their house. Such are the Klu Klux.

Two Wilmington nigger politicians, named Duncan Holmes and Edward Roane, had a duel at the Heenan and Sayres. In other words, they got into a quarrel at a ward meeting one night, and the next day got into a buggy, went beyond the limits of the town and settled the matter by a regular old fashioned fist and skull fight.

The plan proposed for the City Hall in Charlotte is thus described by the Observer: "The building to be of brick, an iron front; its front to be 80 feet, its depth 120; the front to be 16 feet in width, with a broad stairway leading up to the hall on the second floor; the first floor to be divided into two compartments, designed for handsome stores; the second floor to be divided into two sections; the front section is to be about 20 to 40 feet deep, and subdivided into several compartments intended for offices, and small halls for the use of Masons, Odd Fellows, etc. The rear section will comprise the City Hall proper, or Theatre, which will be about eighty feet square, with a width of twenty-five or thirty feet. It will contain a stage and galleries, and will be capable of seating comfortably 1,500 people. The building will be finished in the handsomest style of architecture."

From the Wilmington Star, of the 27th inst., we have the particulars of an accident on the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad on Wednesday morning:

"The Mail train due at Rocky Mount at 4:30 A. M., encountered a broken rail on the trestle at the north prong of Town Creek, three miles north of Joyner's. The engine jumped the obstacle, but the first and second class cars were hurled off into the water below. The sleeping car, in which the most of the ladies were, escaped. The rail was broken by the 2 A. M. Southern freight train. Conductor Howell and Prentiss, Express Messenger, were slightly wounded. Four colored men were more or less injured. Their names are, Cupid Hollowell, head crushed in; Tom Lewis, three ribs broken and internal contusion; Daniel Robinson, left side bruised and paralyzed; and Tom Black, hand lacerated. These patients are now here unable to be moved. They give a terrifying description of the disaster, and the wailing of the women in the darkness. The sleeping car stopped here until it reached the trestle, otherwise its full list of female passengers would have been decimated, as it was the only crowded car in the train. Twenty four hours will be required to repair the breach."

It has not yet been definitely determined to send George Francis Train to an insane asylum. By whom this removal would be authorized, it determined upon, we are not informed. Train is now in prison, with hardly a friend to speak a good word for him. Two physicians are said to have pronounced him insane, but the facts so far made public do not justify his incarceration in an asylum. His speeches, his writings, his many absurd acts have been those of a man whose vanity was inordinate, and whose idea, crazy though it might have been, of the manner in which to gain notoriety and make money was not a bad one, for he obtained both, only he has kept the other—the notoriety—and lost the other—the money.

The negotiations of Sir Sir Bartle Frere, at Zanzibar, are said to have met with a check. Everybody was willing to do everything in council, but as to signing and attesting any document, that was a totally different thing. The Sultan of Zanzibar was much bewildered. On the one hand he is afraid of the power that backs Sir Bartle Frere, and on the other, a great part of the riches of his subjects is invested in the traffic in slaves.

Rev. Dr. Wallace, Professor of Church History in the University of Edinburgh, and one of the principal ministers of the Church of Scotland, is about to be tried before the General Assembly for having declared that he did not and could not believe in "a fidgety, unsettled God," who didn't know His own mind, and had to depend on hints from His creatures as to the best way of managing the world. May the professor be a little "fidgety and unsettled" himself.

The Albany Board of Public Instruction have opened the schools to whites and blacks alike by a vote of seven to five.

It has remained for Mr. Alfred Roberts, of Manchester, England, to invent something new in the way of suicide. It was certainly novel and undoubtedly effective. Mr. Alfred Roberts will invent nothing more in this world. The way in which he met his death was this: He loaded a rifle with ball, handed it to a companion named Walters, and asked him to aim at his breast, which he, thinking the rifle unloaded, very foolishly did. The rifle, of course, went off and Roberts fell, shot through the throat. Very much to the relief of Walters the following letter was found in his closed hand:

March 4.—I am very glad you have saved me the trouble of killing myself. I know you are anxious to become a marksman in the corps. Perhaps I will be of service to you by making a target of myself. Wishing you success to your first shot, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
ALFRED ROBERTS.

To Mr. Tom Walters.
Roberts is said to have been industrious and steady, and engaged to be married. No motive for the act was elicited at the coroner's inquest.

SIEGE OF A STATE PRISON.—The Nevada people have been having a siege of their State prison. By a recent act of the Legislature, the Lieutenant-Governor, who had been also Warden of the prison, was directed to give up the last named office. He refused to do it, claiming that he could not be legislated out of his place. All legal documents and judicial progress were in vain as weapons of disobedience; and the Lieutenant-Governor remained entrenched within the walls of the prison. Finally the Warden, who had been appointed by the Governor, appeared before the prison with a detachment of the State Militia and a piece of artillery. The contumacious Lieutenant-Governor surrendered, indignantly exclaiming that he was there to compel by "military necessity." This is probably the first recorded instance of a man being taken out of a penitentiary by military force.

An honest old Pennsylvania farmer had a tree on his premises he wanted to cut down, but being weak in the back, and having a dull axe, he hit upon the following plan. Knowing the fact among his neighbors for coon-hunting, he made a coon's foot out of a potato, and proceeded to imprint numerous tracks to and up the tree. When all was ready, he informed his neighbors that the tree must be filled with coons, pointing to the external evidence made with his potato foot. The bait took, and in a short time half a dozen fellows, with sharp axes, were chopping at the base of the tree, each taking their regular turn. The party also brought dogs and shot-guns, and were in ecstasies over the anticipated haul of fat coons. The tree finally fell, but nary coon was seen to "drop."

Mr. Thomas Moore, of Fairfax Court-house, was presented to the Virginia State Library a number of documents, in all, signed respectively by Lords Botetourt and Dunmore, Gov. Benjamin Harrison, Thomas Jefferson and Patrick Henry. These old documents are clear and distinct. They will be framed and covered with glass, and then hung in the Library for inspection by visitors.

In 1800 the postmaster-general wrote to complaining correspondents in Massachusetts that "the delay of a half day is not of much consequence to the inhabitants of Groton." That old official evidently knew his business; a delay of only half a day in these "improved" days would be something of a boast in postal dispatch.

The Missouri House rejected the bill giving to the jury in murder cases the option between death and imprisonment as punishment. The Senate had passed it. The chief officers of the criminal courts in St. Louis approve the bill, and it may be reconsidered in the House.

A Minnesota farmer has just sold his farm of 160 acres, forty acres broke and laid plowed, with a good frame house, a stable, and all his farming implements and utensils, for $100 cash and an old sheep-skin overcoat.

It is estimated that over $50,000,000 have been mined on Chicago property since the war. The money has been drawn mainly from New York, Boston and Hartford.

The Raleigh Daily News.

SATURDAY, MARCH 29, 1873.

For the Daily News.

The following lines were written to a sister-in-law, on the death of her husband at sea.

The heavy hand of God,
Is laid on thee,
Whom He loveth most,
Most chaste and true.

Upon the ever restless sea,
He entered into rest,
Left but the useless clay to thee, God chose the best.

Desolate, most desolate, Bereft of earthly love,
O sorrow-stricken mourner, Trust in God above.

He who wept o'er Lazarus' grave, Must surely feel for thee,
Who trod the highway of the Cross, O'er his loved one.

And while thou tread'st the thorny way, Bearing thy heavy cross, O think of him on Calvary, Bowed beneath the Cross.

Strive thou like him thy burden to Sustain,
Trusting in thy Father still,
Say to the dreary bitter cup I'll drain, It is my Father's will.

And though beneath the cross I faint,
And on the thorny way,
The rugged road that Jesus trod, Lead me to the perfect day.

—MAG.

A Good Judge.

The Cincinnati Times publishes the following reminiscences of the late Garret Davis:

They tell this good story of the late Garret Davis and Pomeroy the Yorked. The Kentucky senator was one day quietly smoking in his senatorial chair, when a bill that had been taken up during his nap came to a vote. "Wake up, Mr. Davis, your name is called."

Half unconsciously the Kentuckian rose, and asked the Vice President what they were voting on. The Vice President explained that it was a railroad bill in Kansas. "Well," said Mr. Davis, in that shrill voice and pointed manner of his, "what I want to know, before I vote, is the amount of stealing in this bill."

Whereupon the great and good Pomeroy arose, his face beaming all over with the smiles which only a clear conscience can produce, and said:

"If the Senator from Kentucky will permit me I will explain. I have thoroughly investigated this bill, sir, and I assure you if there is any stealing in it I cannot find it."

"All right, Mr. President," responded Senator Davis, "if the Senator from Kansas can't find any stealing I'm satisfied there is none there." And all over the Senate chamber there was an audible smile.

A QUAKER ADVERTISING DOGE.—A Philadelphia writes to the Post Office Department proposing to pay the postage on all unstamped mail matter if the Department will allow him to place upon the letters, &c., thus stamped his business card. The Department is of opinion that there can be no objection to his payment for the stamps required for forwarding such matter, but that there is no reason why he should be permitted to do his advertising in that way.

Twenty-four hundred years ago the capture of Miletus by the Persians stirred the feelings of all the inhabitants of the Greek peninsula. The dramatist Phrynicus, who must have been a kind of Aeschylus or Euripides, took advantage of the notable occasion to put upon the stage a drama named the "Fall of Miletus." It was allowed to be produced, but when it was acted the whole audience burst into tears, and Phrynicus was mulcted in a heavy fine by the magistrate, and the piece was forbidden to be played ever thereafter. To furnish a historical parallel, it is proposed that M. Dumas be fined one hundred thousand francs, and be interdicted by the French Assembly from ever bringing on the stage "Les Derniers Jours de Sedan."

The island of Porto Rico, belonging to Spain, in which the abolition of slavery has just been decreed, at the expense of the inhabitants, contains a population of seven hundred thousand souls.

Boston intends to attempt to save $100,000 a year by making the State support its insane, just as the other cities of Massachusetts do. For thirty-three years it has paid for their support itself.

A Springfield brute put a cat on a hot stove, and the judge said he could not issue a warrant for his arrest, as the laws for the prevention of cruelty to animals do not include injuries done cats or dogs.

The Greeley statue fund amounts to ten thousand dollars.
